The Power of Three Will Set You Free

The Warren line of witches descends from Melinda Warren, a victim of the Salem Witch Trials in the seventeenth century. As Melinda was burned at the stake she vowed that each generation of Warren witches would grow stronger, culminating in the arrival of three sisters. These sisters would be the most powerful good witches the world has ever known. They would destroy all kinds of evil and be known as The Charmed Ones.

The Charmed Ones

Hear now the words of the witches
The secrets we hid in the night.
The oldest of spells are invoked
here.
The great gift of magic
is sought.
In this night and in this hour
I call upon the ancient power
Bring your power to we sisters three!
We want the power!
Give us the power!

Piper

As the middle sister, I spent much of my life as a mediator between the strong-willed Prue and impulsive Phoebe. I grew to become the heart of the Halliwell family, as our mother once put it.

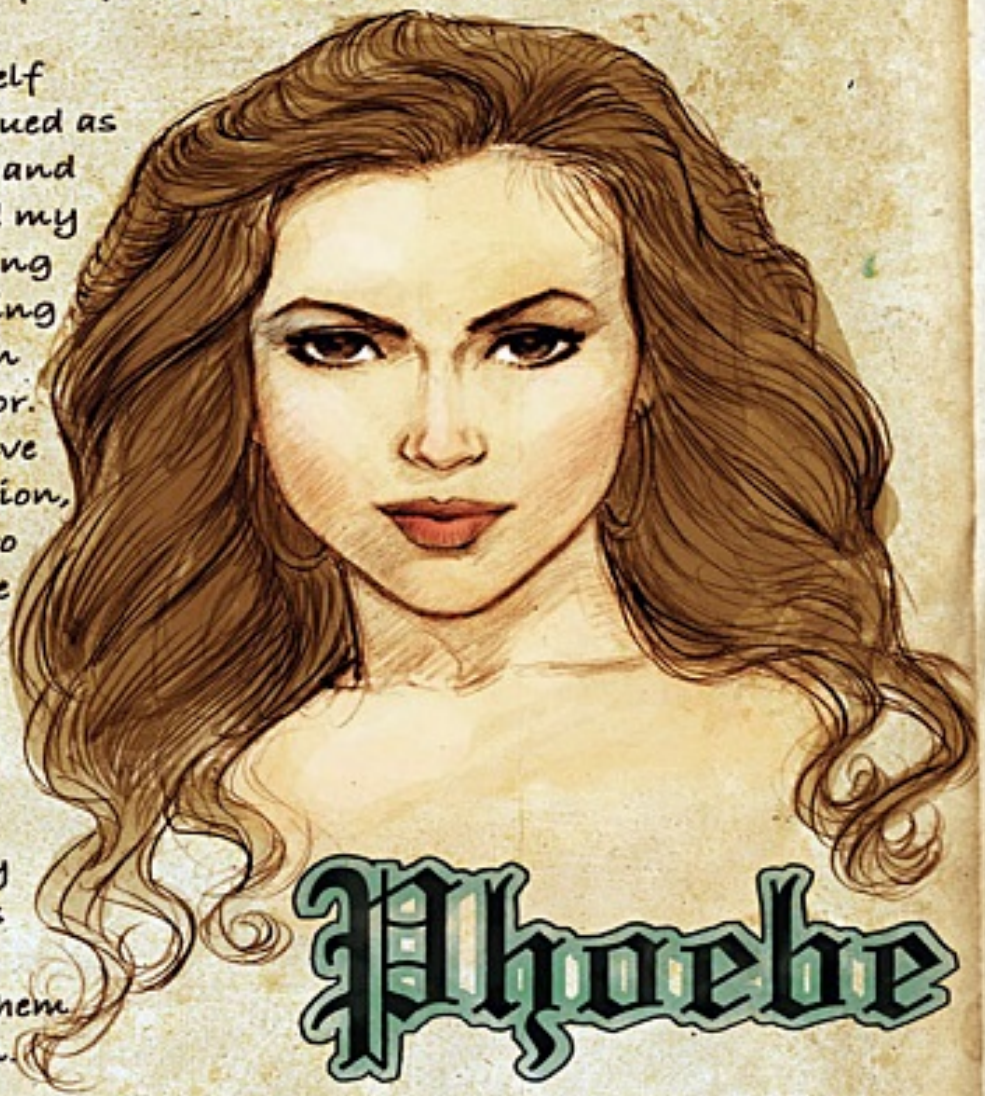
Prue's untimely death shook me to the core, forcing me to accept a new role as the young matriarch of the Halliwell family after welcoming in our newfound sister, Paige.

I initially feared that witchcraft came from a place of darkness that made us evil, but I quickly learned that we were a powerful force for good. The first of my powers to be revealed was the ability to freeze people and objects through molecular immobilization. That ability grew into speeding the molecules to the point of combustion, which proved an easier way to take out low-level demons. I studied to be a chef, managed a restaurant, and eventually opened the nightclub, P3, with the help of my sisters. My cooking skills also made me a natural at brewing potions, if I do say so myself.

Leo Wyatt

Soon after my powers reawakened I met a guardian angel in the form of Whitelighter Leo Wyatt. Leo died heroically in World War Two and was rewarded with an offer to work for the side of good instead of moving on to the afterlife. Though romance between a Whitelighter and his charge was forbidden, Leo and I fell in love and married. The fates and our own stubbornness threw many obstacles into our course of love, but we stuck it out, started a family, and look forward to growing old together.

I spent much of my life searching for my place in the world. After a brief time in New York, I returned home to the strained relationship with my sister, Prue. Ever the impetuous one, I proudly take the blame for chanting the incantation that activated the power of The Charmed Ones. With the help of our magical sisterhood, Prue and I healed our rift before her tragic death.



Phoebe

My journey for self discovery continued as I finished college and eventually found my passion, stumbling into a career writing an advice column for The Bay Mirror. My primary active power is premonition, with the ability to see into the future as well as the past. For a time, I also possessed the powers of levitation and empathy, but my active magic was stripped from me when I exploited them for personal gain. Premonition was the first of my gifts to return, which along with my natural spell-writing talent, still makes me a powerful force for good.

I have had two great loves in my life beginning with the half-human, Cole Turner. Cole was torn in two by his demon half, Belthazor, when we met. Though he escaped Belthazor's grasp, our relationship ended in tragedy when he could not overcome the darkness still within him.

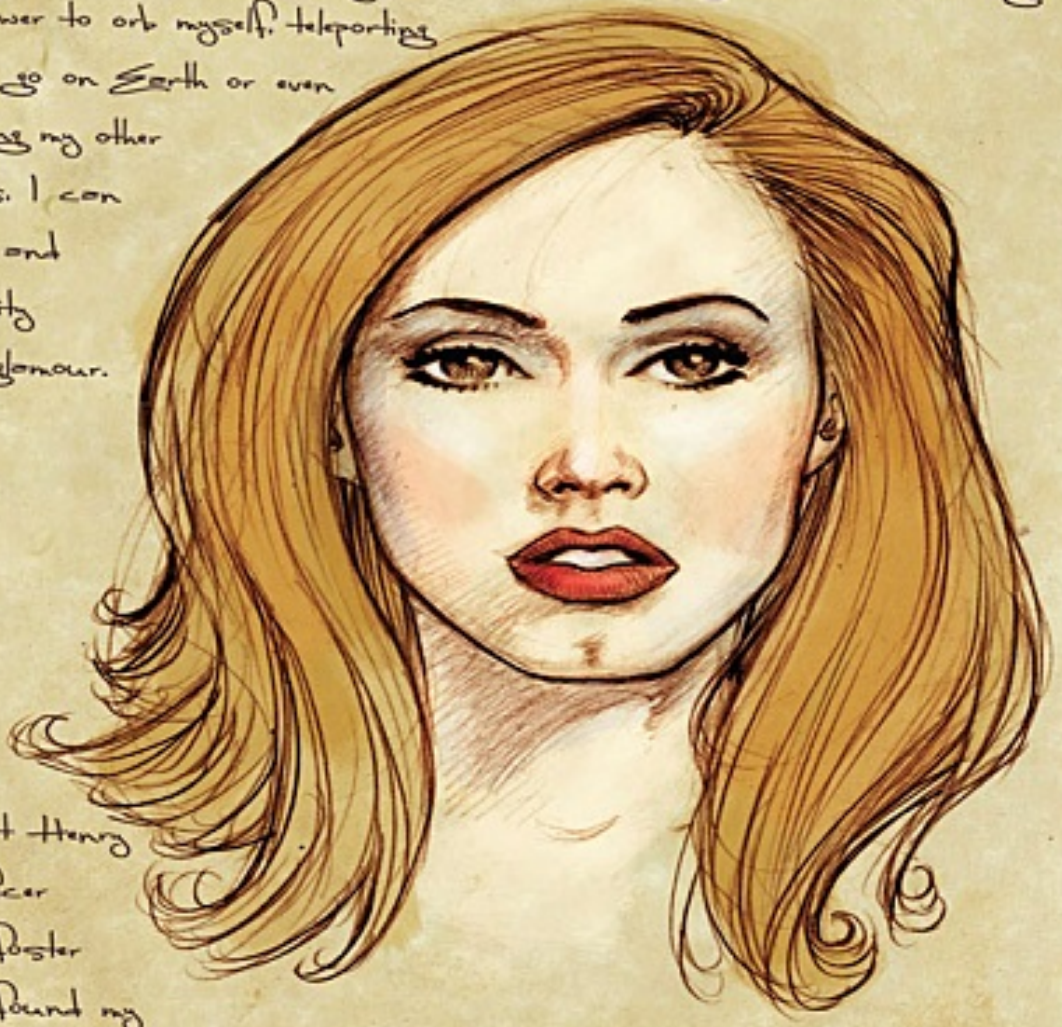
Coop -

Several men followed Cole, but none of them could fill the hole in my heart until the Elders assigned a Cupid named Coop to help me find love again. What neither of us realized was that the Elders had always intended for Coop to be that love.

Paige

The unexpected consequence of a forbidden affair between Patty Halliwell and her Whitelighter, Sam, I grew up with adoptive parents, unaware of my magical family heritage. My situation inspired me to become a social worker, but that path was set aside a year after I found my family and learned that I was a witch. It wasn't until I became headmistress of Magic School that I found what might be my true calling, guiding the next generation of magic users, though the politics of running a school were not for my temperament.

I felt the call of my sisters following Prue's death and together we reclaimed The Power of Three. I soon learned that my magical gift was related to Prue's telekinesis, but with a Whitelighter twist of orbing objects instead of moving them. Part Whitelighter, I also have the power to orb myself, teleporting wherever I want to go on Earth or even "Up There." Among my other Whitelighter abilities, I can also heal wounds and hide my true identity through a magical glamour.



-Henry Mitchell

It wasn't until I met Henry Mitchell, a parole officer that grew up in the foster care system, that I found my true match. We settled down together and started a family, finally allowing me to find my place in the world and accept the responsibility of mentoring new charges.

In Memoriam

Prue Halliwell

Prue Halliwell was the firstborn Charmed One. After our mother died, Prue took on a maternal role when we moved in with our Grams. At first, Prue was skeptical of the magic and Phoebe's leap-before-looking approach to gaining our powers, but she came to fully embrace our heritage. Prue always had an interest in history, having worked with antiquities in her job at Buckland Auction House before returning to her passion for photography.

She was not a stranger to loss, having to let her first true love, Andy Trudeau, die in the fight against evil. Prue's powers of telekinesis and astral projection grew over time, but even those were not enough to save her when the Source's assassin, Shax, took her from our family at far too young an age.

COLE TURNER

Each of The Charmed Ones has dated darkness over the years, but no one from the side of evil had more of an affect on our family than Cole Turner. His half-demon side, Belthazor was in constant battle with the human half, Cole, when I, Phoebe, fell in love with him. Our tumultuous relationship led to a marriage performed in a dark ceremony, even though our love was pure. Unfortunately, that love was not enough to save Cole when his darkness took control and we were forced to vanquish him for good.

Witches

Wiccan Rede: And it harm none, do what ye will

Witches, like mortals, can be either good or evil, but only the good witches serve as protectors of the Innocent. Traditionally, Witches are born with a primary active power, such as telekinesis, but their powers grow as they age. Often, their supernatural abilities are exhibited in early childhood, though it is not unusual for a person to grow into adulthood before her or his capabilities are realized. In addition to their active powers, Witches can also cast spells and create potions to amplify their magic. They live by the rule that they are not to use their magic for personal gain. Witches must decide within the first forty-eight hours of their powers awakening if they will travel the path of good or evil.

The Warren Witches

The powerful line of witches descended from Melinda Warren, a seventeenth century witch that was burned at the stake. The Warren Witches grew stronger with each generation until Patricia Halliwell gave birth to The Charmed Ones, a trio of sisters prophesied to be the most powerful witches the world has ever known. The line continues with their offspring, beginning with Piper's sons, Wyatt and Chris, who have journeyed from the future on occasion to help the current generation.

Billie Jenkins

Billie Jenkins was a protege of The Charmed Ones and aided in the fight against evil while they were in hiding. She continued to train with the sisters after their existence was revealed to the world and became a strong force for good. Billie turned to the side of evil after she reunited with her long-lost sister, Christy, who had been kidnapped years earlier and turned by demons. Together, Billie and Christy became the Ultimate Power fighting for the side of evil against The Charmed Ones. In the end, Billie saw the truth and came back to the side of good, but her sister died when she refused to give up the fight.

the Elders

Also known as the Founders, they are the highest level of Whitelighter. The Elders control the ranks of the guardian angels and keep track of the good witches they protect. They are not all-knowing but they can aid with their vast wisdom.

Whitelighters

Entrusted with protecting witches and future Whitelighters, these guardian angels guide their charges in the use of their magic. Mortals in life, they are given the choice to become Whitelighters or move on to the afterlife upon their death. Among their many powers, Whitelighters can teleport through a process known as orbing and they possess a healing touch.

Angels of Destiny

Magical beings that possess the knowledge of all things. They serve as keepers of the Grand Design and bear the responsibility of maintaining that the future plays out as it is destined.

Halliwell Manor

This San Francisco Victorian house has been the residence of the Halliwell family for generations. The Manor was built on land containing a Spiritual Nexus that can be used for either good or evil. The Halliwell family moved into the Manor to claim the Nexus for good and made it their home.

Magic School

The Elders established Magic School as a training ground for young magic users. Set apart in a separate realm, hidden portals all over the Earth allow access to the school for those who have permission to enter. The school was set up as a safe environment for learning and protective wards were created to keep the students safe from death during their studies. Those wards were breached when The Charmed Ones went into hiding, allowing Magic School to fall under demon domain until it could be reclaimed.

The Upper Regions

Known in the vernacular as "Up There," this is the location from which the Elders watch over the world. Only Whitelighters possess the ability to orb into The Upper Regions, though the forces of evil have, at times, stolen those powers to infiltrate the heavens.

To Find Your True Love's Name

Fill your heart with only thoughts of love.
Slice the skin from an apple in one continuous peel.
Close your eyes and blow on the apple peel.
Drop the peel into water and
Watch it form the initial of your true love's first name.

Warlocks

Warlocks have one goal: To kill good witches so they can obtain the witches' powers. They are witches that have chosen to follow the dark path by performing an irrevocable act of evil in killing another witch or by marrying a warlock in a Dark Binding. Most Warlocks have the power to teleport, known as blinking, though some lesser Warlocks are too weak to perform that act.

Darklighters

Darklighters are on a mission to kill Whitelighters, which leaves their charges vulnerable to attack by the forces of evil. They can orb through a process known as black orbing, and some can inflict a touch of death, in contrast to a Whitelighter's healing power. A Darklighter's crossbow is armed with arrows covered in a poison lethal to Whitelighters.

Underworld

The dark realm beneath the Earth where evil resides.

Demons

Observations upon the Nature, the Number, and the Operations of the Devils.

The Source of All Evil

The ruler of the Underworld, The Source of All Evil is the most powerful demon in existence. The Charmed Ones first encountered the Source in the body of a demon bearing the scars of an ancient battle, but the Evil essence has possessed the bodies of numerous demons over the centuries. The Charmed Ones succeeded in vanquishing that initial demon body, but its essence was transferred into other evil entities before being banished to the Wasteland. The Source returned, briefly, years later in his earlier, scarred demon form that was ultimately vanquished.

Zankou

One of the most powerful Demons of the Underworld, Zankou is a threat to all that is good and feared even by his own kind. So great were his abilities and ambitions, he once contested The Source for control of the Underworld and was banished as punishment. After teaming with The Charmed Ones to defeat the Avatars, Zankou continued his evil ways and was vanquished when he united with the Spiritual Nexus located under the Halliwell Manor.

The Triad

The Triad is a collective of powerful upper-level demons. Virtual Emperors of the Underworld, when together, the powers of this evil cabal increase exponentially and there is no known method of vanquishing them. Though unconfirmed, rumors persist of splinter groups seeking to carry out their own agendas.

Avatars are neither good nor evil. They possess immense power and exist outside time and space. The Avatars viewed the constant battle between good and evil as pointless and enlisted Leo to convince The Charmed Ones to assist them in creating a perfect world. When the price for that perfect world proved too high, The Charmed Ones allied with the demon Zankou to undo the false paradise they had helped create.

Guardians of the Hollow

Thirty five hundred years ago, The Hollow was unleashed on the world. The Hollow is a force that has the power to consume all magical powers, good or evil and is impossible to destroy.

While roaming the earth, The Hollow nearly decimated all magic. Good and Evil had to join forces and combine their strongest magic to contain it. It was placed in an ancient crypt and is guarded by a representative from both sides, an Angel and a Devil, for all eternity.

the Ancient Burial Ground

A realm that exists in infinity, outside of time and space, where the crypt that houses the Hollow is located.

Year One

In the wake of Grams' death, Phoebe returned home from New York and her failed effort to reunite with our father. Her tense reunion with Prue was cut short when a ghostly hand used the spirit board our mother left us to send a message directing us to the attic in the Halliwell Manor. The previously locked room opened for Phoebe and inside she found this Book of Shadows in an old trunk. Reciting the incantation found on these opening pages she tapped into the magical gifts that had been bound within us as children and awakened the power of The Charmed Ones.

Old flames returned and new relationships were forged over the course of our first year as witches. Prue reunited with her former love, Andy Trudeau, who introduced us to a new friend in his partner, Darryl Morris. The Elders sent us our own guardian angel in Leo Wyatt, a Whitelighter who would eventually become family.

We made some mistakes learning to control our powers, but grew stronger as we studied the magical tenets. We were visited by our ancestor, Melinda Warren, traveled back in time ourselves, and fought many evil beings, including some that had been sent to us by the most powerful demon in the Underworld, The Source of All Evil.

In spite of our triumphs, we also suffered deeply during that first year as The Charmed Ones. Prue's relationship with Andy was challenged when she revealed our secret to him and he was forced to cover up our supernatural mysteries. But nothing caused more pain than when Andy gave his life to protect us.

Year Two

In our second year embracing our Wiccan heritage, we were visited by the spirit of Grams for the first time and learned that it was her ghostly hand that had been guiding us through the Book of Shadows. Though we had gained much insight since our powers were reawakened, it was during this second year that we had one of our most painful lessons to date. A visit to the future forced us to bear witness to Phoebe's death as a possible path we could follow if we made the wrong choices with our magical gifts in the present.

Piper was juggling a lot in both her personal and professional lives. She had finally grown tired of working at the restaurant, Quake, and opened her own club. She named it P3 in honor of The Power of Three as well as for the initials of we three sisters who became partners in the endeavor. Meanwhile, she was bouncing back and forth in relationships with Leo and a new next-door neighbor.

While Prue came to terms with Andy's death, we also discovered that she often visited the lake that was the site of our mother's death. This led to us meeting mom's Whitelighter, Sam, and the discovery that they had a forbidden affair that paralleled Leo's and Piper's love. Sam gave his life to save us from the demon that killed our mother and joined her in the spirit realm. Phoebe also learned to open her heart in time to prepare her to meet a man that would affect her deeply.

Year Three

Family played an important role for us this year as our father, Victor, returned in the hope that he could be a part of our lives again. We journeyed back in time to ensure that Melinda Warren was born and the Warren line of witches could develop. And Piper and Leo took an important step in their relationship. Word came down from "Up There" that Piper and Leo were to break up or he would be reassigned as our Whitelighter. Tired of Elder interference, they hurriedly prepared a secret wedding that didn't happen. But persistence paid off and Piper and Leo eventually married.

Phoebe had her own relationship issues of a darker sort. Though her powers started to expand with the introduction of levitation, it was a meeting with a half-demon named Cole Turner that was the bigger change in her life. Their relationship started out an endless debate of whether Cole was good or evil, going so far as to get Phoebe to lie to our family and convince us that Cole was dead after he revealed his human side to her.

It was the loss of our sister Prue that stands out as our most tragic event, not only since acquiring our powers, but in our entire lives. In spite of a deal Phoebe made to side with evil to protect her, we were unable to save Prue from an energy blast from the Source's assassin, Shax. The Power of Three was no more, which was an insignificant loss compared to that anguish of Prue being gone.

Year Four

Mourning Prue's death carried us into a year full of darkness and light. Piper was especially affected by the loss of our sister. Her spell To Call a Lost Witch had the unexpected and fortuitous consequence of uniting us with Paige, the sister we never knew we had. The Power of Three was reborn and we were able to vanquish the demon that had taken Prue from us.

After years of battling The Source's demons, we finally defeated the ruler of the Underworld. Or so we thought. As it turned out, we only vanquished The Source's demon form. The Source's essence went into Cole's body, which started off a chain reaction in the Underworld as he battled for power, culminating in a dark marriage to Phoebe that sealed their lives together in evil and conceived a demon child.

We were forced to vanquish Cole, which sent the spirit of the Source into the Seer orchestrating many of the Underworld's recent power plays. Ultimately Phoebe's unborn demon child was transferred to the Seer as well, allowing us to destroy both the new Source and its spawn together. As a reward for what we believed was finally vanquishing The Source of All Evil once and for all, an Angel of Destiny gave us the choice to abandon our role as The Charmed Ones and lead normal lives. One more battle with evil and the return of Cole helped us reignite our belief in the fight for good. We chose to continue to follow our calling.

Year Five

Leo and Piper prepared for the birth of their first child, who was growing more and more powerful in the womb. The arrival of their son, Wyatt, did not ease the constant strain that the Elders' rules had inflicted on Piper and Leo's relationship. The final straw for the couple came when Leo accepted a position as an Elder in order to save the world from the Titans, but he used his powers to help Piper ignore the pain of losing him.

Phoebe's troubles with her resurrected husband, Cole, continued and she nearly became a mermaid to escape the travails. Eventually, Cole came to regret his evil life and tried to kill himself at the hands of The Charmed Ones only to find that he was unvanquishable. He embraced his inner evil again and devised a new plan to win back Phoebe. In an unexpected turn, his evil machinations allowed him to be vanquished for good.

Paige quit her job to become a full time Charmed One, continuing to grow into her powers, which were especially necessary to us when the Titans took over The Upper Regions. Once the battle ended with Leo deciding to reside "Up There", he entrusted us into the care of a Whitelighter from the future named Chris ... who immediately sent Leo mysteriously away.

Year Six

After a month under the impression that Leo was "Up There" ignoring his family, Piper learned that some unknown being had secretly trapped the father of her child in Valhalla. The mystery person turned out to be our new Whitelighter, Chris, who we were even more surprised to learn was the future version of Piper's and Leo's yet-to-be-born second child.

Chris had come to us from a future steeped in darkness because his brother, Wyatt, had turned to evil. We spent much of this next year protecting our littlest one from the forces of the Underworld out to turn him. Being the firstborn son of a Whitelighter and a Charmed One, Wyatt had already displayed some of his impressive powers as a baby, even calling the famed sword Excalibur to him as part of his destiny. Phoebe also gained more magical strength with the power of empathy, while Paige was feeling confident enough with her own power over magic that she decided to return to the workforce.

Leo's Elder mentor, Gideon, introduced us to Magic School, which was created to instruct a new generation of magic users. Another surprise came when Gideon proved to be the one working behind the scenes to turn Wyatt. As a family, we fought off his evil plan in a battle that left adult Chris dying in his father's arms while baby Chris was being born.

Year Seven

The Elders threatened to close Magic School until Paige offered to become headmistress. But even the next generation of witches could not help us against our newest threat. Leo, who was deeply affected by Gideon's betrayal, teamed with the Avatars in their plan to remake the world in their vision of peace.

Paige's latest paramour, Agent Kyle Brody, had some experience with the Avatars and tried to convince her that they were not the salvation Leo considered them. But when a seer showed Phoebe a Utopian future where the fight against evil had ended and she lived happily with a daughter, we began to suspect that the Avatars might be right. We misguidedly joined the Avatars to rewrite the world in their vision: a vision in which free will no longer existed and the most minor bad acts were met with a harsh punishment.

With the idea that the enemy of our enemy is our friend, we teamed with a new foe, Zankou, to take down the Avatars. Kyle was lost in the battle, but the Elders rewarded him by making him a Whitelighter. Leo, however, still needed to be punished for siding with the Avatars and was forced to choose between his family and the Elders. He ultimately decided to remain at home, stripped of his powers so that he was mortal once more.

While Leo took over as Headmaster of Magic School, our friend, Darryl Morris, was feeling the pressure of years of covering for us, especially with his new partner, Inspector Sheridan. Zankou's latest actions forced our secret to be revealed, putting us all in danger. In vanquishing Zankou, we had to "vanquish" ourselves as well, going into hiding from both the mortal world and the magical one.

Year Eight

Our eighth year in magic began with another loss when our friend, Darryl, moved his family to the east coast to protect them from a danger the world no longer believed existed: Us. The Charmed Ones were gone, though we still lived in the Manor under the glamour of our fictional cousins. We didn't stay in that guise for long as the government came calling and a Homeland Security agent helped us reveal that we lived—and were mortal—so long as we promised to continue the battle against evil.

We did this with the help of a young witch named Billie Jenkins. Paige's latest charge had her own personal demons to fight. While Billie helped us take on evil—including the return of an old enemy in The Source of All Evil—she was also searching for her sister who was kidnapped years earlier by demons.

An Angel of Death came for Leo, but an agreement with The Angel of Destiny allowed us to put him on ice while we made sure that the Grand Design played out as envisioned. We were warned to expect a battle with the Ultimate Power that would shape the future and that Leo's loss would be the motivation for us to wage that war. Little did we expect that Billie would be the key to that Ultimate Power.

Billie teamed with her newly found sister, Christy, who had been brainwashed after years with her demon captors. The Triad, along with Christy's mentor, Dumain, used the Jenkins sisters to call the Hollow in an attempt to destroy us. The fight was intense. Lives were lost and regained. In the end, we dealt a crushing blow to evil, though Billie was forced to sacrifice her sister in the process.

Forever Charmed

So much has happened over the last eight years. So much has been gained and lost. Still, in some ways I feel like my life is really just beginning ... And it was. For, though I had loved before, I'd never really known love until I met Coop; a man who I shared the special little girl I had long ago foreseen, but feared I might never have ... Along with [illegible] I had not foreseen. I was suddenly so blessed to have a new family of my own and old friends to share it with. And though I kept working and giving advice to those who asked, I was more interested in helping them find love. Since, finally, having been loved...

... Phoebe had become somewhat of an expert on the subject. As for me, life without demons opened up similar avenues. Henry, of course, continued to look after his parokes, even if they didn't want to be looked after, while still making time to help me with [illegible] & the twins ... Which allowed me time to finally embrace my inner Whitelighter and to help the next generation of witches come into their own...

...So that Paige could pass on all that she'd learned not just to her own children, or to mine, or to Phoebe's, but to other future witches and Whitelighters as well. Which [illegible] ... Allowing me time to get back to my roots and cook something other than potions for once and open the restaurant I'd always dreamed of owning. As for Leo, after we reclaimed Magic School, he went back to teaching, [illegible] And although we've certainly had our struggles and heartaches over the years, we're a family of survivors and we will always be ... Which is why we've truly been Charmed.
